CAP Endorses Improvements At Mount Pocono Airport

Group Favors Large Runway, New Lighting

CONSTRUCTION of a 4,500-foot runway and installation of new lighting at Mount Pocono Airport has won the support of Stroudsburg Squadron 1401, Civil Air Patrol.

Capt. William A. Bechtel, squadron commander, said his group "wholeheartedly favors" the improvements which would cost about $300,000.

The Mount Pocono Airport Authority has already filed a new application for $150,000 in Federal funds to be used toward construction. It is understood that the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission will contribute another $75,000 leaving an equal amount to be raised locally.

Explaining the value of the new airstrip, Capt. Bechtel noted that the airport was "almost constantly" filled with aircraft during the recent flood.

Not All Can Land

"While it is the only existing airport able to accommodate such large planes," said Bechtel, "it was impossible for all types of emergency aircraft to land at Mount Pocono."

"The possibility that another disaster may strike the area is not remote," he continued. "And construction of this runway would improve the effectiveness of the Mount Pocono facilities 100 per cent."

Bechtel said most of the large commercial airlines are planning to order jet-type aircraft in the near future.

"Construction of a larger and paved airstrip at this time," said Bechtel, "would place facilities far in advance of many other airports and would therefore meet the needs of the aviation industry when these planes are put into service."

Commercial Planes

"Provided the new strip is built," he added, "the airport should be highly favored as a field for commercial air traffic, since it is located near existing airline routes."

Bechtel said the present lighting at Mount Pocono is both "treacherous and antiquated."

"If new equipment, such as that manufactured by Line Material Co., were installed, it would make Mount Pocono one of the best and safest landing fields in Pennsylvania," he concluded.

Collins Raps Soviet Move

WEST POINT, N.Y., Nov. 30 (P) —Gen. J. Lawton Collins said today the Communists are trying to dump weapons and goods in world markets in a new bid for global domination.

The former Army chief of staff, who is now the U.S. member of the NATO Military Standing Group, declared that the United States must continue to give military, economic and political aid to its friends to meet this challenge.

He said the Soviets and their satellites are "wooing" foreign trade, largely through barter, and that their low standard of living enables them to produce some goods cheaper than the free world.

Thus they hope to be able to dump goods and services throughout the world and in this way undermine world markets," Collins said in a speech to the annual Student Conference at the Military Academy.

Collins warned that Communist footholds gained through trade will be followed by technicians and propagandists. "Economic controls are but the first steps to full Communist political controls," he said.

Police Personnel Limit Revised

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30 (P) —The number of state policemen assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike detail would not be included among the 1,900 maximum force allowed by law under a bill passed tonight by the Senate.

The measure was approved unanimously and sent to the governor for his approval.

Under the proposal, carrying the "heavy backing" of Col. Earl Henry, state police commissioner, the force could consist of 1,900 men in addition to those serving on the toll road detail.

Another bill in the Legislature now would raise the overall limit of personnel that could be assigned to the force.

Flash Flood Study Asked At Danville

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30 (P)—Rep. Whitnight (D-Montour) today asked the state Forests and Waters Department to survey conditions that have produced flash floods in the city of Danville.

Whitnight said he proposed that the department send engineers to "look at the problem caused by the flooding of Schuler Run" and that the department's chief engineer is anxious to help the community.

"They agreed to write Burgess John Bauch and set a date for a meeting of department employees and city officials as soon as possible," Whitnight said.

"They are very concerned with the problem and certainly will help us to see how we can remedy it in the best possible way. When we get the causes of the flooding from the department survey we will go about trying to secure financial aid, from the state or federal government, to correct the conditions."

Whitnight said that last week's rainstorm left four inches of water in Main Street, Danville.

Warmer Weather Followed By Snowfall; Cinder Crews Patrol County Highways

THE THERMOMETER—in line with the Weather Man's prediction—took a turn upward yesterday.

Weather Observer Pierre Lake reported that the mercury hit 32 degrees at 8 a. m., and reached a high for the day of 39. The temperature at 10:30 last night in Stroudsburg was 28. Snow was falling at the time in the Stroudsburgs.

Snowflakes began falling late yesterday afternoon in Mount Pocono and were reported in other areas last night.

State police reported that the snowfall made driving hazardous in spots. However, four cinder crews were out last night in Mount Pocono.

By The Associated Press

Snow storms that paralyzed areas in Michigan and New York dwindled to flurries yesterday but Arctic air still covered much of the eastern two-thirds of the country.

Jamestown, N. D., was the nation's icebox with an overnight low of -21 degrees. The mercury still was -3 at Grand Forks, N. D., at noon.

Early afternoon readings were 30 degrees or less from New England westward through the Ohio Valley, the Middle Mississippi Valley, the Central Plains and northwestward to Montana.

Afternoon temperatures were in the 40s as far south as the gulf. Parts of northern Florida had an overnight freeze.

Band of Snowfall

Snow flurries occurred from New England westward through the Ohio Valley, the Great Lakes region and westward through North Dakota.

Temperatures west of the Rockies were mostly in the 30s and 40s at midday, with some 60s in Southwest Arizona and Southern California.

Rain sprinkled Central and Southern Texas.

Buffalo, N. Y., dug out from the effects of a blizzard Monday and Tuesday that left 18 inches of snow. The storm took five lives, closed schools and paralyzed industrial operations temporarily at some plants. Three persons died as the result of heavy snow in Michigan.

Churchill, At 81, Given Ike Medallion

LONDON, Nov. 30 (P)—Sir Winston Churchill quietly marked his 81st birthday today. A surprise gift came from President Eisenhower—a gold medallion carrying a portrait of Churchill taken from a painting by Eisenhower.

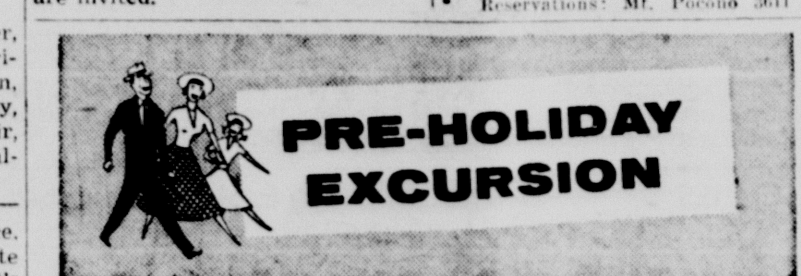

U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich presented the medallion, reading to Churchill a letter in which Eisenhower spoke of "the incalculable debt owed to you by all mankind for your unflinching defense of peace with justice and freedom of man."

The entire world, Eisenhower told Churchill, is "the better for the inspiration of your unflinching optimism and for the heartening example of your shining courage. You have been a towering leader in the quest for peace, as you were in the battle for freedom in the dark days of the war."

Sir Winston stayed at his Hyde Park mansion all day. He stepped to the door for a few moments with Lady Churchill. A group of Londoners who braved the city's worst fog of the year called out "happy birthday" as he gave his "V" sign.

Water Gap Bans Parking Overnight

DELAWARE WATER GAP. Beginning today overnight parking on the streets of this borough will be banned.

Police Chief Fred Decker said last night that the ban will be strictly enforced throughout the winter months. It is designed to facilitate removal of snow from streets in the borough.

The ordinance has been on borough books all along. It is not rigidly enforced during Summer months, Decker said, but when Winter comes it is "absolutely necessary" that the ban be obeyed by all motorists.

Boy Found Unharmed In Woods

MILFORD. A two-hour search for a small boy ended on a happy note yesterday when a group of hunters found him safe and sound in a wooded section of Lords Valley in Pike County.

State police said two-and-a-half-year-old Jimmy Davis wandered away from the home of his grandfather, William Raymonds, during the morning and was reported missing about 11 a.m.

State police and others participated in the search, which ended with finding the youngster about a quarter-mile from his grandfather's home. He was warmly-dressed and in no danger.

Cards To Remind Residents To Use Christmas Seals

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 32 met yesterday at East Stroudsburg Methodist Church to prepare "reminder cards" for the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society.

The cards—reminding residents to use the Christmas Seals sent them by the society—will be mailed out this week and next. About 3,000 of them were prepared yesterday.

Meanwhile the society announced that returns from the sale of the Christmas Seals now total $5,280.37 with 2,796 answers received. A total of 8,179 letters containing the seals were mailed out in mid-November.

In charge of the troop yesterday were Nancy May and Barbara Wellington, leader and assistant leader respectively. There were 15 girls at the church working on the project, according to Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive director of the TB and Health Society.

Early Reply Asked

Every effort is being made to urge local homeowners and residents to return their purchase money for the 1955 seals before the heavy Christmas shopping season begins.

Mrs. Fleming issued a special appeal to those who have not returned their purchase money to do so "today or tonight." The society has set a $12,500 goal for itself in this year's Christmas Seal sale. Funds are used to finance a county-wide, year-round health program including chest X-rays for detection of chest diseases.

It's The Little Man Who Will Pay Most If Excise Tax Measure Passes

The CIO, the Railroad Brotherhoods, the AFL and the United Mine Workers all support expensive lobbies in Harrisburg. They are there to protect the interests of the working man.

The salaries of these highly paid "legislative representatives" come out of the pay checks of the rank-and-file union members.

So, isn't it about time the men who pay the bill are asking why their representatives have been willing to place thousands of their jobs in jeopardy by going down the line with Governor Leader on his dangerous manufacturers' excise tax?

These union lobbyists in Harrisburg are a long way from the open-hearth and the assembly line and the pit face now. They are in politics up to their ears. It's possible that they are concentrating on the "big picture" and are losing sight of the little man's job. But his job is the big factor now in the tax fight going on in the Legislature.

This excise tax is a piece of political hokum. Even its supporters concede that it is a hidden sales tax. The only issue is how badly the ultimate consumer is going to get smeared.

But there is no reason here to go into the fantastic provisions of the tax bill. We've been over all that.

Just one thing is certain. If the bill becomes law it is going to cost the jobs of thousands of wage earners in Pennsylvania, by driving industry away from the state.

If it was the purpose of Governor Leader and his labor advisers to put across a hidden sales tax under the guise of soaking the manufacturers, the thing has backfired—but good. The man who gets soaked is going to be the man who works for a living. It may mean his job. At the best it will mean an increased cost in almost every item he buys to keep his family going.

Yet labor's representatives stood still for this thing. Why? The dues paying, rank-and-file union men of this state are entitled to an answer.

And they are entitled to an answer, too, from their elected representatives in the Legislature whose hearts bleed for the working man on election day.

In their solicitude for the working man, the tax buntlers in Harrisburg are in a fair way to tax him out of his job by driving out the industry that employs him. The union lobbyists should have been smart enough to spot this one. Why didn't they?

Have Pity On Those Families Who Must Get Along On $100,000 Yearly

"Do you earn $100,000 a year?" inquires an advertisement in a dignified financial journal. "If so, we may be able to assist you in retaining a larger proportion of your earnings."

This is a refreshing variation from the helpful hints to the housewife about making leftovers attractive, and encouraging the children to fill up on peanut butter sandwiches. It may indicate we are to have some relief from the "do it yourself" advisers. Indeed, it is about time society offered some help to families which must make do on $100,000 per year.

They have their problems, according to those who know. In the first place, the Government's income tax bite increases in a sort of geometric progression as one ascends the prosperity ladder. Unless the breadwinner or his tax advisers are shrewd, nearly two-thirds of the $100,000 must be written off to begin with.

Moreover, wives of men in that bracket generally require a good deal of spending money, whether or not they were accustomed to it in girlhood. Not for them dishpan, battered Packards or mangy mink. Nor can their children be expected to wear hand-me-downs or play ball in the streets. Even the head of the house must take care not to buy his clothes in bargain basements, though he may have done so on the way up.

It is hard not to be envious of those who make $100,000 a year, even while recognizing their problems. But if there are enough of them to compose an audience for an advertisement, maybe things are pretty good after all.

Columnist Mourns Passing Of Friends Julie Pegler, Ray Vir Den, Hallett Abend

I have just returned from the requiem services for Julie Pegler, the wife of Westbrook Pegler and his constant companion. She died of a heart attack which does not explain it all. Strain, tension, anxiety—these are ailments of the mind and often trouble those who are most concerned with the affairs of the world and the downward path of mankind. Such a woman as Julie Pegler must have cared deeply for her fellow man or she wouldn't have been so deeply moved by his present plight.

The relations of Westbrook Pegler and his wife always interest his colleagues because of the obvious freedom in their companionship and their profound understanding of each other. Peg seems to all the world to be a hard man who hits others with a loaded club; to me he has always appeared to be a sentimentalist, a humanitarian, one who sought virtues in man which were not there, one who was bitterly disappointed when he discovered that even his idols have clay feet. His sentimentality is undoubtedly a heritage from his Irish ancestors but also comes from his close association with Julie Pegler, as fine a character among women as could be found anywhere.

On this same day, I read that my friend Ray Vir Den died, also of a heart ailment. Ray was young and full of life—an idealist who could work himself into real anger over the turpitude of public officials. He must have been brought up to believe in the honesty of men, for he never could quite get over the things he discovered in public life. The son of a missionary minister who went from Indiana to Oklahoma to preach the gospel, Ray believed in the essential goodness in man, otherwise he could not have been so shocked by his degeneration.

As president of the Dutch Treat Club, he followed the tradition set by Clarence Budington Kelland, which was to speak without fear, insulting regularly those who had grown important in their own eyes and stuffy in the eyes of onlookers. No one was ever publicly annoyed by Ray Vir Den's comments although some, on their return to privacy, must have wondered whether what he said might not be exactly true. Somehow, this man, who tried hard to be a buffoon, could not help becoming a conscience.

Few men who pass away will be more remembered, for his was a charming personality as ungracious as he tried to make it. For this man, as hard as he pretended to be, many men had a deep affection and respect. The Dutch Treat Club in New York serves to provide an interlude in the busy lives of its members who like its easy-going atmosphere and who will miss Vir Den for longer than most men are missed.

On the same day, I read the obituary notice of Hallett Abend who had served the "New York Times" in China during many years. He was a contemporary of mine in that country and for many years we saw each other daily. Abend had a penchant for scholarship and had not been diverted to journalism, he might have become a professor of history or Asiatic languages which he mastered with ease. He brought these faculties to reporting and therefore, what he wrote was serious and significant. He, too, died of a heart attack.

Few of those who attempt to report a foreign country succeed in conveying the nature of its people, the character of its historic struggle to the reader. Most foreign correspondents were trained in the tradition that if man bites dog, it is news, when actually the essence of understanding is a knowledge of the usual and the unchangeable. Abend developed a deep and realistic grasp of the nature of the Chinese. In a revolutionary era, when leadership rises from the gutter among a people who are accustomed to the leadership of gentlemen and scholars, understanding was difficult and those American correspondents who saw only the changes and never the permanent, really understood nothing. Abend's genius is that he caught the permanence of China, perhaps the most continuous civilization in the history of man.

And so, the heart gave out among these three and we shall, some of us, pay for another cardiogram and we shall be tapped and blood-pressed and given pills. But what we really need is peace of mind, peace and hope. These alone can save our hearts from the tensions and despairs of our day.

Grafton's Calendar Jingle One Of Most Immortal Poems

You can have your Shakespeares, Keats and Shelleys. I claim that the poet who came closest to achieving immortality—for his work if not for his name—was a bird named Richard Grafton, who ground out his little jingles back in the 16th century.

According to Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations," he is the fellow who wrote those deathless lines: "Thirty dayes hath November, April, June and September, February hath xxviii alone, And all the rest have xxxi."

That's not quite the way I heard it, but it's close enough. It's no great shakes as poetry, either, but it's the idea that counts and I gather from Bartlett that Grafton thought up the idea, even though others polished it later.

I don't know whether Grafton ever did anything else worth mentioning but I shall be forever grateful to him for that one jingle alone.

So long as we continue to stand still for this monstrous Gregorian calendar it will be the only means I have for ever knowing where I am at.

There's no way of proving it but I'll bet that little jingle is recited silently often than any other piece of writing in the English language. Time and again I mumble it to myself furtively, in a last-ditch effort to get oriented. Especially around this time of year. I have a lot of trouble with "November."

November always struck me as a beefy sort of month that ought to have 31 days if any month should. There must have been some politics mixed up in the making of that calendar or they never would have short-changed November that way—particularly when they were so liberal with July and August.

Seems to me we nearly always have more July and August than anybody really needs.

However that may be, if it weren't for Richard Grafton and his "thirty dayes hath," etc., I am almost sure I'd become an active member of the World Calendar Association and get right in there and pitch.

But for that handy little jingle to matter hastily under the breath, it's my guess that many more millions of people long since would have added their voices to the Association's clamor for a new calendar that wouldn't keep everybody perennially balled up on their dates.

Looking at it that way, it might have been better for all concerned if Grafton had stuck to whatever he was better at than writing verse. (There must have been something). For having to recite jingles to be sure whether you've had your full quota of November or September is by no means the only silly aspect of our present calendar.

Maybe the problem never came up in Grafton's day, but I know some people who could use a little practical verse to remind them which months are going to have extra paydays. So could their creditors.

Try and Stop Me

Frank Case, amiable boniface of the Algonquin Hotel, told the story of the day the late DaWolf Hopper protested to him that nowhere in New York could he find his favorite dessert, brown betty, on the menu. "I'd have it here for you," Case said, "if I thought there would be a reasonable demand for it." "You put it on your menu tomorrow night," proposed Hopper, "and I'll see to it personally that the demand develops."

The next night brown betty was duly added to the Algonquin bill of fare, and Hopper, much gratified, made a personal tour of every table in the dining room. "I am DaWolf Hopper," he announced to the surprised patrons, "and I personally urge you to sample the brown betty this evening. It's delicious!"

Hopper then repaired to his own table, toyed with a beefsteak, and summoned his waiter. "Now," he said, rubbing his hands in anticipation, "I'll have a double order of brown betty."

"I'm very sorry, sir," said the waiter. "It's all gone."

Congressional Survey Shows Cheerful Business Outlook

Washington, Dec. 1: The Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report has an unusually early and cheering New Year's message.

It is a nationwide survey of the business outlook, containing the following principal conclusion: "Current estimates of total income and expenditures reflect a continued rise in over-all economic activities through 1956."

Particularly included in this good news is the stock market, about which the study says, "It appears to be getting its second wind."

Significance of the Joint Committee's findings is that they carry weight with the committees which handle the budget and formulate tax legislation. Both will be top issues at the coming Congress, which reconvenes Jan. 3.

Also of note is the fact that the heads of the Joint Committee are leading critics of the Eisenhower Administration. The chairman is Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), former economics professor; the vice chairman is Rep. Wright Patman (D., Tex.), long-time champion of small businesses. The Committee's rosy report was compiled by its staff of experts. When it will be made public is conjectural.

The survey's statistics for 1955 are still incomplete, as they lack the figures for December. Those will not be obtained until the middle of January. But over-all conclusions on the current year are available on the basis of comprehensive data already in hand.

From these detailed complications the study cites four weak spots in the national economy:

(1) Consumer expenditures have risen faster than the increase in national income; (2) consumer credit is continuing to go up despite restraining measures by the government; (3) some inventories are beginning to pile up; and (4) the continued decline in farm income.

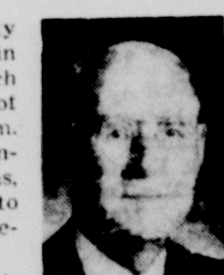

Only the last is rated as a major problem, and the report implies that is due in a measure to politics.

Unpublished Details — Following are the highlights of this significant economic analysis:

"GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT: Figures for the last quarter of 1955 are still incomplete, but in the third quarter the gross national product rose around $7,000,000,000, to a new high of $391,500,000,000. . . . Consumer expenditures accounted for most ($5,500,000,000) of the increase. In comparison to that, national income rose $4,500,000,000 in that period, for a total of $325,200,000,000."

"PRICES: Small price increases are indicated in the next six months for housing, medical care, transportation, apparel, recreation, and some other goods and services which make up the cost-of-living index. However, food prices should remain about the same as the October level."

"CONSUMER CREDIT: Indications are this will reach a record high of $35,000,000,000 by the end of 1955. ## CAA Plans To Test Jet Transports

—by H. G. Heller

First formal step toward airworthiness certification of a U.S. jet transport will be taken this month, when the Civil Aeronautics Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce, expects to convene a preliminary CAA type board meeting on the Boeing 707.

Application for certification also has been received from Douglas for its DC-8, it was announced today by F. B. Lee, Administrator of Civil Aeronautics. A similar request is expected shortly for the Lockheed Electra, a turbine-powered propeller-driven airplane, Lee said. Construction and testing of the new transports will take approximately three years, he explained.

When these new transports go into passenger-carrying service in 1958 or 1959, they will bear CAA certificates of airworthiness with many years of engineering know-how behind them. More than five years ago, the CAA recognized the advent of the jet age in civil aviation and began preparation to assure the safety of passengers traveling seven miles above the earth at speeds approaching 600 miles an hour.

A specially-selected group of CAA engineers was assigned to comb the world for information on problems of jet flying. These engineers visited England where the early Comet was being tested; they learned what they could of new developments on the Continent; they consulted as many U. S. military specialists as they could on what the Services had learned about high speeds and high altitudes. U. S. manufacturers of military aircraft contributed valuable information.

Out of this research came in 1950, the first U. S. government study of civil jet aviation problems. Anticipating the first request to certify a jet transport plane, this study was in the form of a modest pamphlet suggesting "possible problem areas" in building a safe jet transport. Today we know that a few of the "problem areas" were not very significant, and that there are other problems which escaped listing in the study. But, generally speaking, it was a good look-see at the major problems which CAA engineers are studying today as they undertake their first certification program for a jet transport.

CAA engineers are working in a field so new that there is little to guide them. The Civil Aeronautics Board, which issues the regulations, has not as yet formulated complete regulations to meet the specific requirements of jet transports. Instead, the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics is empowered to require whatever is necessary to insure "an equivalent level of safety" as compared with conventional aircraft.

Kiwanis Club Told Of Work Of Bloodbank

DR. GORDON Bell, of Wilkes-Barre, surgeon and director of the Wilkes-Barre bloodbank, was the guest speaker at the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting at the Penn. Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Presented by LeRoy Mikels, county chairman of the American Red Cross bloodbank, Dr. Bell outlined the great value of the bloodbank, especially to the sick person in a hospital bed.

The speaker gave an interesting treatise of the blood cells in the human body and the important part they play, also of various treatments for diseases.

He said the Wilkes-Barre bloodbank center represented 18 counties with 1,250,000 people. Organized five years ago, the first years were very rough, but there was a lag thereafter.

Blood Needed

The great need of blood for treatment of various diseases was demonstrated by the fact that during the past five years 7,400 pints of blood has been used at the Monroe County General Hospital. No one realizes the value of free blood available at all times more than a person sick in the hospital bed, he said. Instead of being compelled to wait until a blood donor is found with proper type of blood or paying as much as $50 a pint to concerns which sell the same, a blood bank makes blood ready for use at all times, it was pointed out.

The free blood donor is a better man for giving his share, the speaker declared. He declared the necessity of telling the general public of the great need of blood to make them realize their personal responsibilities.

Monroe County, Dr. Bell said, had always met its quota during the past five years, which speaks well for the people of the area. He complimented Mr. Mikels for his part in Red Cross and bloodbank activities. Cooperation of the Red Cross chapters was responsible for the success of the bloodbank project, the speaker declared.

William P. Wells, first vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Detlef A. Hansen, president, who was unable to attend. He urged careful observance of Safe Driving Day today.

Division Meeting

The reorganizational meeting of the clubs in the 17th Division of the Pennsylvania District of Kiwanis will be held Saturday at the Pomfret Club, Easton, getting under way at 9:30 a.m. Stroudsburg club will have a delegation of officers and directors in attendance, J. D. Ceador, of Riegelsville, lieutenant governor, will be in charge.

Vernor M. Reynolds was reported recuperating nicely at his home after hospitalization.

The monthly meeting of the officers and directors of the Stroudsburg club will be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel next Monday at 5 p.m. Members can make up for misses at the session.

The special flood disaster project committee, Parke W. Kunkle, chairman, will meet at the hotel Monday at 3:30 p.m. to consider disposition of the special disaster fund held by the club.

The club song period was in charge of Merle C. Ostrom with Dr. Earl Willhoite, pianist.

There's No Simple Solution To Finding Enough Teachers For Mounting Enrollment

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—All over the nation the perplexing question bobs up: What can be done about the teacher shortage?

Today at the White House conference on education nine determined persons sat down at Table 3 and tried to dig out some answers.

To the outsider, the conference is run strangely. Table 3 is but one of 166, and all the groups worry about the same subject simultaneously. Their thoughts are sent along and boiled down and refined until, finally, the pure, distilled, composite thoughts of everyone are supposed to come trickling out.

"Enough Good" Teachers

Table 3 appeared to be especially good for visiting today since nearly every member either is, or was, a teacher. Their backgrounds otherwise varied from Philip Johnson, a radio and TV man from Portland, Maine, to Charles H. Julia, a lawyer and senator from Puerto Rico.

You'll get some idea of how the talk went from this: One question was, "What do we mean by 'enough' 'good' teachers?" The word "enough" was debated 15 minutes, and "good" was good for 20 more.

Everyone agreed, though, that good teaching is what makes the wheels go round.

"So many persons," Miss Harriet Nash, a preschool expert from Kensington, Conn., said, "think that if they've got good buildings, they've got good schools."

John Herrick of Columbus, Ohio, agreed this was a mistake, even though he's a specialist in school buildings. "No question about it," Herrick said, "teachers are the heart of any school."

Ratio Questioned

Someone wondered if the ratio of 30 pupils for each grade school classroom is ideal. James A. Perkins, a member of the Princeton, N.J., School Board, didn't think much of using that statistic. "The trouble with it is," Perkins said, "that there won't be enough new teachers coming from our colleges to make it possible. It can't be done."

$1000 in New Appliances $0 In Added Insurance

"Guess I'd never realized how much we've invested in new appliances until the other day I read about a home burning to the ground. That set me thinking."

"We've bought over $1,000 in new appliances the past year, yet we haven't increased our fire insurance coverage a single penny."

How about you? If you've added to the value of your household goods, why not call 2810 or see the C. H. Crowe Company, Inc. Adv.

State Delays Bookkeeping Changeover

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30 (AP)—A printing delay today forced the postponement for a month to Jan. 1 the effective date for a new plan to streamline the Commonwealth's bookkeeping procedures.

H. Michael Albers, director of accounts for Gov. Leader, said a huge number of forms needed to carry out the new system failed to arrive in time for the original Dec. 1 target date.

"It's unfortunate but we were at the mercy of the printer," he told a newsman. "However, the forms should certainly be in from the printer in time for the new Jan. 1 target date."

The new plan is intended to give the state a system where, for the first time in recent history, the governor will know day by day the exact status of the Commonwealth's finances.

New Procedure

Under it, money for a state purchased item will be considered spent as soon as an agency commits itself to buy it.

Albers differentiated this system from a variety of arrangements in effect for many years.

Some departments have kept their books to show an expense when a contract was signed; others, when a requisition was issued; still others, when an actual check was issued, and finally, others when the item was actually received or delivered.

"We are now going on what is known as an accrual basis instead of a modified cash basis as we had in the past," said Albers. "It simply means every comptroller will be using the same system in keeping his books."

Department comptrollers will make a day-by-day report to the governor's office on their operations. That will show at a glance just where the Commonwealth stands financially on any given day.

No new purchasing procedures are involved in the changeover except to place the purchases on an accrual basis instead of a cash basis.

phila counselor and a representative of the AFL Pennsylvania Federation of Teachers, said the worst part of it is that her high school youngsters look over the teaching situation, and decide to go into something else.

"You mean," Perkins said, "they don't like what they see?"

"That's right," Miss Root said.

There was a thoughtful pause at Table 3. Then they went doggedly back to work, digging for more answers.

"Well," said Geppinger, "what do we poor school board members shoot for?"

56-60 in Class

"In Puerto Rico," Sen. Julia said, "we have 50, 60 in a class. And thousands do not go to school because we do not have facilities for them."

Pocono Mountains Basketball League To Reorganize

Eight Teams Show Interest In Circuit

TANNERSVILLE—A re-organizational meeting of the Pocono Mountains Basketball League will be held here at Trach's Pocono Hotel today, at 8 p.m. Any team wishing to enter the circuit is asked to have a representative present.

Eight teams have shown a definite interest in entering the circuit, while four others have displayed a passing interest in the league.

The teams most interested appear to be Gray's Chevrolet, Tannersville, Stroudsburg Poconos, Kresgeville, Pocono Lake, Lake Harmony, Barrett and West End.

Possibility

There is a possibility that representatives from Lehigh Valley, Stroudsburg YMCA, High Point Inn and East Stroudsburg will be on hand at tonight's gathering.

Each team entering the circuit must be ready to post a $25 entrance fee.

Ray Davies, president of the league, will rule over the reorganizational meeting.

Jersey Back Leads Offense

NEWARK, Del., Nov. 30—Jim Zaiser, 158-pound left halfback from Salem, N. J., led the Delaware team in rushing this fall with 613 yards to establish a new three-season mark of 1702 yards.

Zaiser, two-time recipient of the Philadelphia Touchdown Club's Maxwell Award, averaged 4.94 yards on each of his 124 trips with the ball. In addition to dominating the ball-carrying ranks, he topped the list of Delaware scorers with 10 touchdowns for 60 points, led in kickoff returns and ranked third in passing, third in pass receiving, second in punt returns and second in interceptions.

Honors

Bob Hooper, stellar Blue Hen quarterback from Mill Creek, Pa., came in for his share of statistical honors also as he completed 47 aeriels for 665 yards and nine touchdowns, handled most of the punting with a 29.95 yard average, tied for second in scoring and led the squad in pass interceptions with three for a total return of 43 yards.

Senior end Warren Allen of Port Morris, N. J., snared 15 aeriels, gaining 242 yards and scoring four touchdowns, to emerge as Delaware's number one pass receiver. Captain Vince Grande of Watertown, N. Y., finished a close second with 12 catches. In punt returns it was right half Bob Money-maker, of Seaford, Del., who finished first. Money-maker, in his first season as a regular, returned six punts for 26 yards.

The Delaware team, supposedly weakened by the loss of seven starters from the '54 club, ignored the preseason predictions and outscored the bowl victors of last season.

Catholic Schools Form League

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30—Six eastern Pennsylvania Catholic high schools have formed a class "A" sports league for competition that will bring them together first in next fall's football season.

Schools taking part in the league formation, it was announced today, were St. John's, Manayunk; St. Matthew's, Conshohocken; Reading Central Catholic; Allentown Central Catholic; Bishop Kendrick, Norristown, and Pottsville Catholic.

Chiefs May Be Sold

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 30—Martin D. Haske, owner of the Syracuse Chiefs baseball club of the International League, announced tonight that a Miami, Fla., group has asked for an option to purchase his ball club.

Basilio Fells DeMarco In 12th To Retain Title

BOSTON, Nov. 30—In almost a duplicate of his title winning effort, welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, 28, blasted his way from the brink of defeat tonight to stop lethal-punching Tony DeMarco, 23, of Boston in 1:54 of the 12th round of an other vicious title battle.

Hurt repeatedly in the fiery scrap and reeling from the Bostonian's power punches in the seventh round, the Marine from Canastota, N.Y. chopped down his squat opponent twice in the 12th to send Referee Mel Manning to the local prize's rescue.

It took the battle-scarred Basilio just two seconds more to do the job this time than he required in Syracuse June 10 when he halted Tony in 1:52 of the 12th.

With a capacity crowd of 13,373 which contributed to a record Boston gate of $171,800 roaring with every blow in this fierce slugfest, Basilio caught up to his tiring rival in the 12th with a tremendous right to the jaw which shook DeMarco in his tracks.

As the pro-DeMarco crowd yelled "Tony get up," DeMarco slowly climbed to his feet at the count of eight.

Coolly and calmly Basilio fired away with both hands at his stricken rival. Then, just as the referee started to rush over to stop the slaughter, Carmen unloaded another right that sent Tony slumping to the canvas.

There was no count. The referee just gathered Tony in his arms as Basilio danced jubilantly around the ring.

In their first meeting, another "give no quarter battle," Basilio felled DeMarco twice in the 10th round and then wore him down. Carmen had to come from behind to win in his own city and he had to do the same on DeMarco's home grounds tonight.

Basilio, who stretched his unbeaten streak to 15 fights, was trailing on the cards of all three officials for the first 11 rounds. Referee Mel Manning had it 106-103, Judge Joe Santorpio had it 104-97 and Judge Joe Santorpio had it 106-103. The Associated Press card had DeMarco leading 103-101 on points and on rounds 5-4-2.

Basilio said afterwards he hurt his left hand in the second round, but he knew he was going to get his opponent from the fifth round on.

"He wasn't punching as hard tonight as he was in the first fight," said Basilio.

Each fighter weighed 145½. It was the same poundage Basilio carried when he won the title. DeMarco weighed 144½, the first time.

Basilio Hurts Hand In Second Round

BOSTON, Nov. 30—"I was fighting with one hand from the second round" said confident welterweight champion Carmen Basilio tonight after repeating his June technical knockout of Boston's Tony DeMarco.

Basilio, seated on the rubbing table in his crowded dressing room, lifted his left hand from a bucket of ice and held it up.

"I hit DeMarco on the top of his head in the second round and this hand bothered me the rest of the way."

The fight, closely resembling the June 12th round TKO by which Basilio wrested the welter crown from DeMarco, marked a better job by the Canastota iron man, he thought.

Thought

"After the fifth round I knew DeMarco would run out of gas, it was just a question of time," Basilio said as a gold and purple crown was thrust upon his head by his aides.

Basilio was asked by a battery of reporters, between flash bulb bursts, about the seventh round when DeMarco sent him wobbling backward with a terrific left hook. "I knew what I was doing," the smiling champion answered, his breath still coming fast from the battle.

"I said to myself, 'Tony, you got me with a real good punch. But you're not going to hit me another one this round'—and he didn't!"

Stroudsburg-Eastburg Cage Tickets Go On Sale Today

TICKETS FOR NEXT Tuesday's basketball version of the "Battle of the Boroughs" will go on sale today, it was announced last night by Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools will launch their respective campaigns against each other next Tuesday, at the former's home court.

The junior varsity contest is set for 7 p.m.

Tickets will sell for one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students.

Places

Stroudsburg fans may purchase their tickets at Flagler's Drug Store and at Rex and Derick Drug Store. Tickets may also be purchased at Stroudsburg High.

Ducats will be on sale in East Stroudsburg at Lloyd's Sporting Goods Store, Lantz Store and Kresge's Drug Store. They will also be available at East Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg Junior High.

Starters

This year's W. C. squad will have plenty of speed but lack height as it did last season. Sparkplug of last year's attack, Jim Ferris, is being counted on to do his usual steady job again this season. The rebounding chores will be left up to last year's rebounding ace, John Bresnahan and George Morgan who will be trying to fill the shoes of Harry "Skinny" Ennis last year's center lost through graduation.

The other two starting berths will go to Carl Van Dyke and Joe Jablonski. Van Dyke is a smooth player who can be counted on in the clutch, while Jablonski is a great rebounder for his 5-11 frame.

Classic Keglers Clash

MONROE Classic League kegglers will clash at Harmon's Recreation today at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Square Bar vs Red Top Tavern.

Alleys three and four—Jack's Market vs Bill Altier's.

Alleys five and six—Eagles "A" vs Community Bar.

NO HUNTING

EAST STROUDSBURG
RESERVOIR PROPERTY

BE IT RESOLVED . . . that the members of the Timber Hill Rod and Gun Club at their quarterly annual meeting held Oct. 23, 1955 in the interests of conserving wild life in the Poconos, and particularly deer, shall not hunt doe upon the lands posted by the Timber Hill Rod and Gun Club. Violation of which shall subject anyone of its members to expulsion. Ralph Knauf, Secretary.

Huskies To Face Cheyney In Opener

BLOOMSBURG, November 30—A potentially strong Cheyney State Teachers College basketball team will help the Bloomsburg State Teachers College Huskies launch their 1955-56 basketball schedule tomorrow night on the Centennial Gymnasium court at 8:30 p. m.

Both the Cheyney and Bloomsburg squads are untested against college competition, because of the conference rule which allows no play before December 1.

Twenty eight dribblers have been vying for starting berths under the guidance of Coach Harold Shelly. Included in this number are 10 returning varsity lettermen. The Husky mentor has had some difficulty welding together a strong starting quintet because of the late ending of the football season and the Thanksgiving vacation which followed shortly after.

Husky athletes who participated in gridiron activities have had only a few opportunities to attend basketball practice sessions, and may require additional time to get into shape.

Two Standouts

Coach William O'Shields has at least two standout performers returning to bolster squad strength this year. Tall, lanky Jim Parker, an All-State center last season, will present a definite scoring and defensive threat to the Maroon and Gold hopes for victory. Parker will receive able support from Rollin West who fills in at the guard position.

The Jayvee game begins at 7 p.m.

Royals, Hawks Trip Rivals

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 30—The Rochester Royals moved out of the cellar in the Western division of the National Basketball Assn. tonight, defeating Fort Wayne's Pistons 87-76.

The pacesetter St. Louis Hawks had downed Minneapolis 99-97 in the opener with Bob Harrison getting 19 points and Bob Pettit 18 in the opener of a doubleheader.

Rochester Wins First

BROOKPORT, N. Y., Nov. 30—The Rochester Institute of Technology basketball team opened its season tonight with a 73-62 victory over Brockport State Teachers. Ken Hale dumped in 31 points for Rochester.

Nine Gridders Join Bangor Cagers In Drill Sessions

BANGOR—Nine football players have joined forces with the Bangor High School basketball squad under the direction of Coach John Heard and all are now blending for next Tuesday's opening encounter with Polk High at Kresgeville.

Barrett, Polk Play On Home Courts

POLK AND Barrett High Schools, both members of the Monroe County League, will play their first home basketball games of the current campaign today.

Barrett will entertain highly regarded Greene-Dreher-Sterling High, winner of both of its starts to date, on the Barrett hardwood. Polk will be at home at Kresgeville with Pen Argyl. Greene-Dreher-Sterling is a member of the Wayne County Conference, while Pen Argyl operates in the Lehigh-Northampton League.

Coach Joe Murray's Barrett squad will answer Greene-Dreher's threat with a lineup composed of Charley "Joey" Wilson and Gordon "Butch" DiFuria, forwards; Reed Gravel, center; Jerry Cheslock and Carl Motts, guards.

Visitors

The Stags will answer with John Manhart and Bob Haag at the forward posts and Howard Phillips, center. Don Olssonmer and Walter Hinds, guard.

Polk will face Pen Argyl with a lineup featuring Charley "Chuck" Raub and Joe Romascavage, forwards; Larry Souders, center; Ronnie Smith and Matthew "Mat" Held, guards.

The Polk charges of Coach Art Smith lost their only outing to Greene-Dreher Sterling, on the latter's home court in Newfoundland.

Pen Argyl is coached by Ed "Jake" Palmer, former basketball star at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Junior varsity action is set for 7:15 p.m. on both fronts.

Ladies Slated To Bowl Today

MEMBERS of the Stroud Ladies' League clash at Pocono Bowling Center today at 6:55 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—George's Shoes vs. Thomas Funeral Home.

Alleys three and four—Smith Fashions vs. C. C. Frantz.

Alleys five and six—Penn Dell vs. Melvin and Marley.

Alleys seven and eight—Bachman Oil vs. Bushkill Falls.

Eastburg To Play First Tourney Tilt

SLATINGTON—East Stroudsburg High School will play the first game of the Lehigh Valley League Invitation Basketball Tournament during the Christmas Holidays, it was decided at last night's Lehigh Valley League meeting here at Slatington High School.

The Cavaliers, coached by Dick Forster, will tangle with a strong Northampton squad at 7:30 on Friday, December 23, while Jim Thorpe and Slatington battle at 9 p.m. the same day.

Weatherly and Lehighton will clash at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 27, while Summit Hill and Emmaus match ability at 9 p.m. on that date. The semi-final round is scheduled for Wednesday, December 28, while the final round will be played on Friday, December 30. The tourney will be held here at Smith Hall.

Northampton was recognized as the football champion last night in one of the points of business discussed during the course of the meeting.

Raise Fees

It was decided to raise the fee for football officials to $12 next season. But, it was also decided to keep the fees of basketball and baseball officials at the present rate. Basketball officials are currently drawing down $12 for varsity games and six dollars for junior varsity action. Umpires earn $7.50 per baseball game.

The league also ruled that all timers and scorers in league basketball games must be faculty members.

Each school must also reserve seats for visiting varsity and junior varsity basketball players, when they aren't in a game. They will be reserved behind the visiting bench.

Prices were also set for admission to league games. Stroudsburg will maintain its charges of 65 cents for adults and 35 cents for students.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager, represented Stroudsburg High last night. Forster and Jack Kist, football and baseball mentor, were on hand for East Stroudsburg.

Tony Runs Out Of Gas

BOSTON, Nov. 30—"Tony just ran out of gas, that's all."

That was the explanation given by Manager Bobby Aggrippino for Tony DeMarco's 12th round TKO loss to welterweight champion Carmen Basilio tonight at the Boston Garden.

Had Him

"Tony had him a couple of times, but couldn't put him away," Aggrippino said. "Then he just ran out of gas."

Aggrippino did the talking for the beaten Boston slugger who sat dejected in his dressing room just nodding his head unable to say anything.

DeMarco appeared still dazed when visitors were allowed into the room long after the end of the slugfest.

Hockey Scores

New York 6, Chicago 1
Detroit 3, Toronto 3

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

TUESDAY'S meeting of the Varsity "E" Club was one of the best in the history of the organization. A total of 26 men were in attendance and much was accomplished and lengthy discussions were aired on the various points of business. The presence of varied opinions made it a truly good gathering. There were several new faces in the crowd, faces that hadn't ever attended a gathering in the past. The club's membership is approximately 200, with dues paid.

Joe Perelli, president of the club, was in the crowd at the Army-Navy game, along with Bill Hudock, Bill Barton and Dave Pyle. They visited Evan Reese in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital following the now historic tussle at Philadelphia's Memorial Stadium. Palmerton made certain that Bob Mikky bettered his brother Bill's old scoring mark against Weatherly on Tuesday. The Bombers fed Mikky until he had 49 counters.

John Kupiec, basketball mentor at Stroudsburg, scouted Palmerton in its initial outing. Kupiec was accompanied to the game by Charley Winters, Stroudsburg's junior varsity coach; Sam Wells, assistant principal, and Mahlon Serfass, faculty manager at the W. Main St. school. Did you notice the appeal for public support issued by Little League headquarters? As pointed out here the other day, this scrap could be fatal to all concerned.

Little League is also taking court action against Carl Stotz, former Little League commissioner. The action is to halt Stotz from forming a new Little League organization. The Strouds, champion of the Bi-State Baseball League this summer, will receive a large trophy from the circuit sometime this week, so we've been informed. The Strouds have booked a meeting for next Wednesday. Gary Smith, center on the Coolbaugh High basketball team, is a nephew of Art Smith, court coach at Polk High. Both Coolbaugh and Polk are members of the Monroe County League.

Mickey Vernon, who spoke at the Pocono Little League banquet at Pocono Manor last month, is quoted in this week's Sporting News, on why he thinks the trade from Washington to Boston will help him personally. Mickey, who made a host of friends in this area, is happy to be on the same team as Ted Williams and thinks hitting behind the "Splendid Splinter" will improve his batting average, which was .301 last season.

Rival coaches pick Barrett and Pocono as the basketball team to beat in the Monroe County League this winter. Fountain Hill appears to be one of the toughest entries in the Lehigh-Northampton League. Palmerton and Slatington are drawing plenty of pre-season notice in the Lehigh Valley League. Wilmont Smith and Kelly McLaughlin, both first team members of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College basketball squad, are family men. Both will be heard from often in the basketball news this season.

Area relatives and friends of Bobby Gail, Muhlenberg cage star, will be watching the latter's play with great interest this season. This should be Bobby's big year. Joe Whalen, president of the Monroe County Softball League, termed last Sunday's 35-35 tie between the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants the best pro football game he ever witnessed. The way things are shaping up at the present time, next June's Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic should be one of the best in its long history.

We should know by Sunday night whether or not the Keystone Amateur Softball Association will hold its state tournament here in the Stroudsburg's next summer. Charley "Max" Hippler, newly named commissioner of softball in Monroe County, and Dick "Dipe" Lessig, manager of the Twin City entry in the Monroe County Softball League, will attend an association meeting in Hershey on Sunday. They will travel with Allentown's Fritz Bader, commissioner of the association.

If the tournament is presented to the Stroudsburgers, look for a special umpiring clinic to be held here in the not too distant future. Charley German, basketball star at ESSTC last season, is definitely returning to school in January. He cut aside the final bit of red tape in returning to school last week. Tobyhanna Township High's basketball team will be much stronger when Harry Costanzo returns to the squad. Harry has been on the sidelines recovering from a bout with pneumonia, but it is believed that he may be ready for action once again in a week.

Coolbaugh To Play 16 Basketball Games This Season

Moscow Only Pre-Season Foe On List

TOBYHANNA—Coolbaugh High will play 16 basketball games this season, it was revealed yesterday when Coach Don Wismer released the official 1955-1956 schedule. The list contains only one pre-season tussle.

Wismer revealed that the only pre-season outing would be with Moscow High, on the latter's home court. The game will be played tomorrow.

Coolbaugh is expected to answer the opening whistle tomorrow with Dave Keiper, a senior, and either Tom Wiley or Dick Bittner at the forward slots. Bittner and Wiley are also seniors.

Center

Gary Smith, a junior, will be at center, while Bob Sapp and Tom Cucherhine, both seniors, will man the guard positions.

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—It will be a touch of irony if Vic Janowicz, hard running Washington Redskins back, has to don a face mask and guard in Sunday's game against the New York Giants pro footballers.

And Janowicz will have to wear one if he plays. The former Ohio State star, playing without a mask, suffered a broken nose and lost three teeth in the 23-14 Washington win over the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday.

Lone Stand

The irony in the situation is that Janowicz was the only Redskins in a recent poll to favor abolishing the face guards. Thirty-two of the squad said they thought the guards were a good idea.

King, 28, and a veteran of 55 professional fights, suffered an intracranial hemorrhage in the ninth round of a 10 round bout with Arnan Peck Tuesday night. Both are Negroes.

Report

Hospital officials reported there was no change in King's condition after his admittance. His condition was listed as "poor."

Former Pittsburgh Manager Quits Baseball

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30 (AP)—Baseball's William Adam (Billy) Meyer reluctantly said farewell to day to the sport he has been part of as player-manager-scout for nearly a half century.

"I've decided I just can't go on any more," Meyer said as he relaxed at his suburban home. "If I regain my health, I might do a little scouting. But right now it looks like I'm through."

Stroke

Meyer, 63, suffered a stroke last May at Burlington, N. C. The seizure has left him partially paralyzed in the left side.

Meyer said he had asked the Pittsburgh club for which he has been a trouble-shooter since 1932 to release him.

Thus ends a baseball career begun in 1909 and which reached its climax in 1948 when Meyer was named "major league manager of the year" as freshman pilot of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He led the club to fourth place in the National League that year.

Fain Signs With Solons

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 30 (AP)—Ferris Fain, twice batting champion of the American League, today was signed by the Sacramento Solons as a player-coach.

Although bothered by an injured knee, the veteran first baseman is expected to add left-handed power to the Solons, who finished last in the 1955 Pacific Coast League race.

County Loop To Roll

THREE MATCHES are on the agenda of the Monroe County League at Harmon's Recreation today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Cramer Lumber vs Beseker's Diner.
Alleys three and four — Gem Lunch vs Al Beseker's Diner.
Alleys five and six — CLU Club vs Johnnie's Inn.

Trucks Goes To Detroit As Chicago Acquires Phillips In Second Deal Of Baseball Meeting

By Joe Reichler

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 30 (AP)—Detroit and Chicago completed the first major trade of the baseball meetings today, the Tigers reacquiring veteran righthander Virgil Trucks from the White Sox in exchange for reserve outfielder John "Bubba" Phillips.

It was only the second deal involving major league players since the baseball people arrived last Sunday. The Chicago Cubs recently dealt relief pitcher Hal Jeffcoat to Cincinnati for second string catcher Hobie Landrith. But Jeffcoat's subsequent announcement that he intended to retire from the game has caused complications.

Phillips began his professional baseball career with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1948. He was the regular right fielder at Gordon Giff's Field until recalled to his Louisiana home by military service.

The Poconos were a member of the now defunct class "D" North Atlantic League.

The Detroit-Chicago transaction was expected to light a fuse under some of the other big league traders who up to now have done little but talk. Both the Tigers and White Sox promised more action.

The Tigers' acquisition of Trucks gives rise to the suspicion they plan to pass on the aging right hander to the New York Yankees for younger talent. Detroit had hoped to draft infielder Herb Plores, a Yankee farm hand at Denver, but were thwarted when Pittsburgh drafted pitcher Jack McMahon from Denver to close up that club.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said he had offered seven players for an unnamed outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates. It was learned that the "unnamed player" is slugger Frank Thomas.

Bears Maintain Lead In Offense Despite Shellacking

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Chicago Bears, despite a shellacking by the Chicago Cardinals last week, maintained their National Football League offensive statistics lead.

The Bears gained 3,821 yards on 1,978 rushing and 1,843 passing to lead Pittsburgh which has 3,376 on 1,200 rushing and 2,176 passing, with 1,728.

The Bears of George Halas, who fell from first to second place in the league's Western Division with the loss to the Cardinals, also lead the rushing department with 1,978 yards, 250 better than Washington with 1,728.

Pittsburgh holds the lead in passing although they've lost their last six games in a row. They have tallied 2,176 yards to 2,008 for Detroit.

Washington took over the laurels as the best defensive team against rushing from Pittsburgh, who held the lead for eight weeks. The Cardinals' performance against the Bears pushed them into the defense-against-passing lead with Cleveland dropping to second.

Individual Lead

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, the Baltimore Colts' prize fullback, has taken over the individual rushing lead from the Packers' Howie Ferguson. Ameche's lead is a scant 88 yards.

Cleveland's Otto Graham increased his passing department lead in the 35-35 tie the Browns played with the Giants.

Graham has attempted 148 passes, completed 81, and compiled 1,385 yards and 10 touchdowns for a percentage of 9.36 yard per pass.

San Francisco's Billy Wilson broke a four-way tie for first place among pass catchers to lead Tom Fears of Los Angeles, Pete Pihos of Philadelphia and Dave Middleton of Detroit.

Doak Walker of Detroit is the leading scorer with 83. Norm Van Brocklin of Los Angeles the best punter with a 44.8 yard average and Ollie Matson, Cardinals, tops in punt returns with 15.2 yards per carry.

Sox Purchase New Shortstop

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today announced purchase of Luis Aparicio, 21, a Venezuelan shortstop, from their Memphis farm club of the Southern Assn.

Aparicio is expected to be the leading candidate for the regular shortstop position left vacant by the trade of Chico Carrasquel to Cleveland last month.

Eagles Ask Waivers On Goldston

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today asked waivers on halfback Ralph Goldston and returned Roy Ledbetter to the active list.

Goldston, from Youngstown, Ohio, joined the Eagles in 1952, but sat out the 1953 season when he broke a leg in a pre-season game. He returned in 1954 and played mostly on defense. This season he has been used sparingly.

Fracture

Ledbetter suffered a fractured thumb in the Pittsburgh game here Oct. 30 and was placed on the injured reserve list. The hand has healed and he is reported ready for action Sunday against the Chicago Cardinals.

Segregationist Protests Player

ATLANTA, Nov. 30 (AP)—Members of a racial segregationist group protested today that Georgia Tech might play against a Negro football player in the Sugar Bowl game with Pittsburgh.

The protest was made in a telegram to Coach Bobby Dodd of Tech, who said he had no comment and did not expect to have any.

Signature

The telegram was signed by Hugh G. Grant of Augusta, one of the founders of the States Rights Council of Georgia, dedicated to the preservation of racial segregation.

Pirates Complete Coaching Staff

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 30 (AP)—Tom Tatum, 35, who played for Brooklyn and Cincinnati, today was named a coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

New Manager Bobby Bragan now has completed his coaching staff for the next season. He retained Clyde Seuforth and Sam Naron, who served under Fred Haney.

Miami Loses Chance For Franchise

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 30 (AP)—Miami lost its chance for an American Assn. franchise today and the league investigated the chances of taking on Wichita, Des Moines or Knoxville as a site for its "wandering" Toledo franchise.

As Wichita and Des Moines are members of the Western League, either city would have to be drafted or acquired by negotiation from the Class A circuit. The deadline for drafting was midnight tonight, Nov. 30. Knoxville is "open" territory with no pro baseball.

The Milwaukee Braves were convinced that it would not be feasible to move their Toledo franchise to Miami against stiff opposition, after a "dry run" schedule revealed staggering travel problems.

Thought

It was thought that Milwaukee might yield its association franchise and try to move into the International League, buying the Syracuse, N.Y., club and shifting it to Miami. However, John Quinn, Milwaukee general manager, said the Braves definitely would operate in the association—"unless they push us out."

"I can't tell you where we will operate it may be in Knoxville or in a city already in baseball."

George Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues (minors), was called in to outline the steps necessary to draft territory. The association was involved in a similar situation a year ago during the Houston meetings when it wound up by taking Denver and Omaha from the Western.

It was learned that a Toledo group also was hopeful of keeping the club but few gave them much of a chance.

While the association met, the Boston Red Sox were busy lining up a buyer for their Louisville franchise. It was understood that a wealthy man who does not live in Louisville was interested in buying and operating in Louisville. As part of this proposed deal, the Red Sox would leave a small number of players on the roster and the new owner would be ready with a working agreement with another big league club. The potential buyer's name was not disclosed.

Despite this confusion, the minors' annual convention finally got underway with its first business meeting. A total of 13 drafts by Class B leagues, three by Class C and three supplementary drafts boosted the two-day total to 58 players for $189,950. One umpire also was selected.

Santee Keeps Amateur Rank As Time For Protest Passes

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 30 (AP)—Wes Santee, this country's fastest miller, kept his amateur standing today as the deadline passed for protesting his return to the good graces of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Unless complicated parliamentary procedure revives the case later, the rapid Kansan will be eligible to run for the United States in the 1956 Olympics as well as participate in other amateur events.

The Olympic Track and Field Committee of the AAU was in session today as time elapsed on the period in which a protest could be filed by the registration committee that suspended him. He had been accused of accepting expense money in excess of the AAU limit of $12 a day. The suspension was rescinded 10 days ago by the Missouri Valley Assn. of the AAU.

Future Protest

Santee's case remains subject to future protest on up until Olympic time. The last course of action would be a protest by some other country before the international athletic federation, and no deadline is prescribed by that body.

The Santee problem was one of top concern of the AAU as it gathered to iron out many of the problems connected with sending strong United States teams to next year's summer Olympics at Melbourne, Australia and the winter games at Cortina, Italy.

New Tractor Presented To President

GETTYSBURG, Pa. Nov. 30 (AP)—A gift of a shiny new tractor today by calling his cows with a new-fangled electronic bell and cheering them as they came a-runnin'.

"Look at the darned things go," he cried in glee. "Did you ever see anything like it?"

A few minutes before he had promised his guests, who presented him with the $4,000 tractor-cultivator combination:

"You are going to see something if those cows act like they usually do."

Feeling Fine

The President told reporters at the bucolic ceremony he was "feeling fine." And reports from a 45-minute medical examination, made just before the presentation down by the barns, supported his optimistic and cheerful mood.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, his personal physician, and Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, the Army's heart specialist at Washington's Walter Reed Hospital, said he was "free of symptoms" and termed his convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack "satisfactory without complications."

They cautioned that he must continue to restrict his activities and things like golf are taboo as yet, but held out hope his exertions may be increased from day to day as long as he has his afternoon rest.

Conferences Today

Tomorrow, he will talk about the budget for the Health, Education and Public Welfare Department with Secretary Folsom and Budget Director Rowland Hughes. He will direct 22 miles after lunch for a two-hour meeting with the National Security Council at Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains.

Arrangements were made for Cabinet and other members of this top defense planning group to fly from Washington in helicopters—as they did last week—for the session.

The gadget-loaded tractor and cultivator—complete with built-in radio and cigarette lighter—was presented to Eisenhower by representatives of the Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperatives.

Aramburu Restores Paper, Dissolves Peronista Party

By Sam Summerlin

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 30 (AP)—Argentina's provisional government today wiped out two legacies—the party he created to maintain absolute power and the expropriation of the newspaper La Prensa.

President Pedro Aramburu, in office only 18 days, issued two decrees, one ordering the Peronista party dissolved and the other restoring La Prensa to its owners, the Paz family, from whom it was taken almost five years ago.

The Peronista party was organized at a mass meeting in July, 1949. Peron then had been president three years, supported by the Labor party and a left-wing splinter group of the Radical party. The new party was dedicated to him as its sole leader.

Its exact membership never was known, but was estimated at 250,000 to 300,000, or about 2 per cent of Argentina's population. As Peron's power increased membership became a privilege for average citizens and brought any who joined special advantages.

It became a smoothly operating political machine which smothered all political opposition. When Peron fell in the military revolt last September, Peronistas held all the Senate seats, all but 12 of the 135 seats in the Chamber of Deputies, sat on the benches of nearly all the nation's courts and held most of the provincial and local government posts.

Its dissolution by decree, following the government's seizure of the General Confederation of Labor, smashes both main arms of Peron's regime. The CGT members—assiduously courted by the dictator—served as his shock troops when force was needed. Aramburu's administration took over the CGT and its properties the first week he was in office.

Aramburu's decree ordered Interior Minister Eduardo Bosso to take over Peronista party property until its final disposition is determined.

La Prensa's expropriation by the Peron government in 1951 was another step in his relentless suppression of all opponents. Under

Church Group Asks Release Of Surpluses

OMAHA, Nov. 30 (AP)—The National Council of Churches General Board today adopted a resolution urging 144,000 member churches to bring pressure against the U.S. Department of Agriculture for release of surplus grain for overseas needy.

The action came after R. Norris Wilson, director of the National Council's relief arm, told the board's quarterly meeting efforts to free Community Credit Corporation wheat and corn under terms of a 1954 law had been unsuccessful.

Wilson said that after appealing to the Republican National Committee he had been able to lay the matter directly before Secretary Benson, who showed interest and promised to study the situation. However, others in Benson's department had insisted that since the needs of the nation's own needy had not been met, the grain could not be released for use abroad, he said.

Says None Released

Wilson told the council the grain isn't being released in this country either. He said it had been suggested that, "If none was being released domestically, the total could be released to us."

Wilson quoted this reply from Dr. Earl Butts, assistant secretary of agriculture:

"If we were to make the grain available for overseas use without using it in America, we'd have a hue and cry at our back from all over the country."

"Let's have a hue and cry because they have not released it," Wilson urged.

The Department of Agriculture has authority to release surplus commodities to nonprofit voluntary agencies for use in assistance of needy outside the United States after certain other needs are met.

The Church World Service, of which Wilson is director, and agencies of other church groups have been distributing other surplus commodities abroad.

There are about 1,917 heart attacks a day among American citizens.

The editor and director, Dr. Alberto Galiza Paz, La Prensa was the largest Spanish language newspaper in the world, widely recognized abroad for its independence.

Stocks Touch Historic High, Then Recede

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—The stock market went ahead in vigorous trading today with the averages at noon touching the historic high of Sept. 23 before receding a bit.

When the Associated Press 60-stock average was up 80 cents to $181.50 at noon it had erased the estimated 13 billion dollar loss in the quoted value of securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange in the sharp break of Sept. 26 following news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The AP averages closed at $181, however, only 20 cents higher than yesterday. The industrials were up 40 cents, the rails 20 cents and the utilities 10 cents.

Active Market
Trading volume totaled 2,900,000 shares in the most active market since the sell-off on Oct. 11 when 2,500,000 shares changed hands. Yesterday's volume was 2,370,000 shares.

Gains ranging to a point or better were scattered throughout major divisions while individual stocks surged well beyond this. There were some losers, as well, among key issues.

The market was broader than yesterday's, with 1,200 issues traded, of which 587 advanced and 363 declined. There were 45 new highs and 8 new lows.

The American Stock Exchange also was higher and more active with 850,000 shares traded compared with 800,000 yesterday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in moderate trading. U. S. government obligations were higher, in the over-the-counter market.

Restaurant Group Plans Installation

"GET ACQUAINTED" night will be the theme of the December meeting of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Association, to be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the new warehouse of Millett & Lyons, Inc., Scranton.

The new officers of the NPRA will be installed by Joseph H. Mulherin, retiring president. Peter J. Kaldes, of Scranton, is the new president; vice president, Clayton J. Karamelas of Wilkes-Barre; secretary, Albert J. Stets of Pocono Manor; treasurer, Bernard E. Byorek of Hazleton. Following the business meeting and installation of officers, the program will be turned over to Daniel J. Millett and Harry Lyons, who will introduce Irish coffee. This beverage, recently introduced in this country, will be served under the direction of Patrick Powers, of Ireland.

Members and guests of the NPRA will have an opportunity to inspect the new warehouse and facilities of Millett & Lyons at Meadow Ave. and Hemlock St., Scranton. Refreshments will conclude the program. All those in the food service industry are invited to attend.
